

Omniva business customer support units merge into one

27-09-2021

From 1 September 2021, Omniva's business customer support units for parcel and postal services will merge to offer you more convenient customer service.

This means that in the future all your questions regarding postal and parcel services will be answered by your personal client manager or a general business customer support unit.

From 1 September 2021, our business customer support unit will answer all your questions.
