

Tommi Törmälä to become the CEO of Flexo, the joint venture of Posti and SOL

22-05-2017

Tommi Törmälä has been appointed as CEO of Flexo Palvelut Oy, the new joint venture of Posti and SOL, starting on May 22, 2017. His previous roles include the director for Finnish operations at staffing company Adecco and COO at Manpower.

Tommi Törmälä has been appointed as CEO of Flexo Palvelut Oy, the new joint venture of Posti and SOL, starting on May 22, 2017. His previous roles include the director for Finnish operations at staffing company Adecco and COO at Manpower.

"I want to express my warmest welcome to Tommi, the new CEO of Flexo! Flexo's aim is to reach net sales of EUR 100 million. I believe that Tommi's robust expertise in both personnel and customer encounters and his executive skills will enable the success of Flexo, its customers and personnel", says Harri Kämppä, Vice President, Supply Chain Solutions at Posti.

Juhapekka Joronen says that Flexo will offer over 300 new jobs by the end of the year. In a few years, Flexo aims to offer thousands of new jobs. Joronen is satisfied with having a dedicated expert with strong personnel management skills in the lead.

"I accept this new, interesting position with great delight. Flexo stands on the shoulders of two companies that are successful in their own fields of business. SOL's expertise in personnel management and recruitment, combined with Posti's logistical expertise allow us to build a unique venture. I believe that Flexo will enable both our customers and personnel to succeed, Tommi Törmälä comments.

Törmälä will report to Harri Kämppä, Vice President, Supply Chain Solutions at Posti.

Source: Posti