"The AFL has a legion of passionate fans Australia-wide and a sporting heritage and legacy that is unrivalled across the country. Australia Post's partnership with the AFL and the Royal Australian Mint to launch this limited-edition coin collection is something we're extremely proud of.

"We know Australians love to collect things like stamps and coins and now Australia Post has the ultimate sporting collectable coins for avid collectors and die-hard AFL fans. We hope fans will be just as excited as we are about the collection," Ms Noble said.

Assistant Minister for Competition, Charities and Treasury, Andrew Leigh, said he was thrilled the Mint is releasing this new set of $1 coin collectables in partnership with Australia Post and AFL.

"The great thing about commemorative coins is that they're something that can be kept within families and passed on to the next generation. The Royal Australian Mint has a long history of celebrating Australia's greatest sporting moments. This partnership gives passionate AFL and AFLW fans a chance to support their team with a unique memento of the 2023 season."

"The AFL is proud to partner with the Royal Australian Mint to produce AFL and AFLW coins that will now form part of our country's coin circulation for the first time," Ms Rogers said.
